Gary, you beaut!

Long jumper, Gary Honey, of Reservoir, who won a silver medal at the Los Angeles Olympics, has returned home to a hero's welcome.

Gary was among members of Australia's Olympic and Paralympic teams who were treated to a rousing civic reception by the City of Melbourne on Friday.

Thousands of cheering people packed the City Square to welcome home the sporting achievers.

The City of Preston and Gary's club, the Koon Park Amateur Athletic Club also will honor Gary with a function at 11 W. Dale Reserve on Friday, September 14.

Putting out a welcome mat to migrants

By David Henry

Stale Ethnic Affairs Minister Peter Spyker has earned himself a reputation as one of Parliament's hardest working politicians.

And one of the things he works hardest at is the issue of multiculturalism. He has been involved in the community for many years and has a strong commitment to ensuring that the values of multiculturalism are maintained.

In his latest initiative, Peter Spyker has introduced a Bill to Parliament that will make it easier for migrants to integrate into Australian society.

The Bill, which has been greeted with enthusiasm by the community, will provide funding for English language classes and cultural awareness programs. It will also provide support for those who may be struggling to find employment.

Spyker believes that this is a vital step in ensuring that Australia remains a multicultural society.

"We want to ensure that migrants are able to integrate into our society as smoothly as possible," Spyker said. "This Bill is a step in the right direction."
Liberal-NP Senate rift widens

The National Party's push to run its first separate Senate ticket will open up a wide range of divisions among the party's members, especially in rural areas.

The National Party is currently fighting a battle within its ranks, with some members supporting the move to run a separate ticket while others are opposed.

The move comes as the party attempts to capitalize on its recent successes in rural areas, where it has been gaining popularity in recent months.

A safety watch on goods

An urgent need exists to ensure the safety of all goods purchased to avoid harmful consequences and enhance consumer confidence.

The introduction of safety features in the purchasing process is crucial to safeguard the interests of all stakeholders.

The Government has taken important steps to address this issue, and consumers are becoming more aware of the importance of safety precautions.

The National Party leader has assured the community that safety is a top priority for his party, and measures will be taken to prevent any incidents from occurring in the future.

This means that the water is thoroughly mixed up so the clothes and detergent ends are mixed very well.

Now, with the new Westinghouse compact, clothes don't just come out clean and bright, but also with the delightful odor of freshly laundered linens for a longer period.

Northern creeks: A clean-up ahead

The term "northern" in the text is not aligned properly. The term should be "northern".

The project is being led by the Northern Creeks Committee, which has been formed to address the issues of water quality and environmental protection in the region. The committee is made up of members from various organizations and agencies, including the local government, environmental groups, and representatives from the local communities.

The project aims to improve the water quality of the creeks by reducing the amount of pollutants entering the water. This will be achieved through various initiatives, such as the establishment of buffer zones along the creeks, the implementation of best management practices for agriculture and urban development, and the enforcement of regulations to reduce pollution from industrial activities.

Meetings

The committee will hold regular meetings to discuss progress and coordinate efforts among the various stakeholders. The first meeting will be held on [insert date] at [insert location]. Everyone is encouraged to attend and provide input on how to best address the issues.

A map outlining the development area along the Danube Creek is also included in the document.

City gets disaster plan

Preston aquarobics

A study, the first that ever originated in America, has now been moved to the water.

A report by the World Health Council in High St, Preston has introduced it by its ruined pool and two other small areas in the town.

"It's a natural way to work," said Janet said.
"It's a great way to keep fit and lose weight. It's a great way to make new friends. The best thing is it's for people of all ages, from 5 to 75. We've seen the benefits of the water for people with back problems and also for the elderly in the community.

This is not only through the exercise of the swimming, but also the fact that the pool has been designed to be accessible for the elderly and also for the disabled."

"In the city of things at the centre are drop in, Janet became.

Help on way for guardians of the frail aged

Growing old is a process which causes many problems. Often the health of older people is taken for granted in society. This is because most people decide to ignore the problem or they feel that age is a natural consequence of living longer and therefore do not feel concerned about it.

A recent study has revealed that over 50% of older people require more assistance as they age. This study indicates the need for better care and support systems to be put in place to assist these individuals.

School debate

A recent school debate on the topic of aging highlighted the need for better education and awareness about the challenges faced by older people. The debate raised awareness about the importance of supporting older people in society.

Safety value

Knowing how to handle older people is crucial for their safety. The study found that many older people are at risk of falling due to changes in their mobility and balance. Good care and awareness can prevent accidents and injuries.

Our top plastic surgeon bows out

There has been a recent departure from our clinic of one of our top plastic surgeons. The news has spread quickly and many patients are expressing their disappointment.

Dr. Benjamin has been a cornerstone of our clinic for many years. His expertise and dedication to his patients have been unparalleled. His departure will be felt greatly, but we are looking forward to welcoming his Replacement.

Other factors of note include the new regulations on plastic surgery and the increased demand for aesthetic procedures. These changes will no doubt have an impact on the future of our clinic.

Preston to retain park locomotive

The City of Preston is pressing ahead with plans to preserve the historic former City Park locomotive in the park opposite the Preston train station. The engine would not be restored but would be preserved as a static exhibit.

It was recently announced that the City of Preston had received a Heritage Council grant of $20,000 to help with the costs of preserving the locomotive. The grant will be used to upgrade a historic shed where the locomotive is currently stored. The locomotive would be displayed in the shed, which will be open to the public.

The City of Preston has been working on this project for several months and is now in the process of finalising the plans. The project is expected to be completed by the end of the year.
Big party marks 50-years for club

Members from Montrose, Yarraville, Northcote and Sunshine garden clubs joined the Preston Garden Club to celebrate its 50th anniversary on August 27.

Secretary of the Preston Garden Club, Mr. H. V. Ryan, welcomed the 250 members who attended the event. He said that the club had grown from a small group of enthusiastic gardeners to a large and diverse organization.

The club held a spécial program that included a presentation by a leading ornamental garden designer, as well as a demonstration of various garden techniques.

The event was a great success, and the members of the Preston Garden Club are proud to have celebrated their 50th anniversary in style.

More cash is urged for welfare work

The North-East Regional Consultative Council has called on the State Government to reconsider cuts in welfare expenditure when it brings down its 1984-85 Budget on September 16.

The council, which meets in Canberra in December, has already given its views on social welfare matters, saying the cuts would be "unjustifiable".

In a report to the council, he said the cuts were "unjustifiable" because the need for welfare services was growing.

The cuts, he said, would "jeopardise the welfare of the community and involve a real risk to the community's future welfare.

Mr Brough said the council was "deeply concerned" at the cuts and was considering "what action to take to prevent the cuts from being implemented."

The cuts, he said, would "jeopardise the welfare of the community and involve a real risk to the community's future welfare."

The council also called for a "substantial" increase in social welfare expenditure to meet the needs of the community.

A joke, then a dream, now a reality

by Anne Crawford

Trotting along the narrow, twisty, dark roads of rural New South Wales, the lone motorcyclist is a common sight.

But now, with the advent of the latest in motorbike technology, the future of the motorcyclist is brighter than ever.

In a recent survey, 90 per cent of motorcyclists said they would choose a new model over an old one.

"It's not just about the looks," said one rider. "It's about the performance."

The new models boast features such as antilock brakes, electronic cruise control, and even onboard GPS systems.

But the biggest change has been in safety. The new helmets now have built-in speakers and microphones, allowing riders to communicate with each other.

"It's like having another rider on your back," said another rider.

But despite the advances, some riders say they prefer the old-school models.

"I like the feel of a motorcycle," said one rider. "I don't want all these gadgets."

Standards... society makes and breaks them, but as citizens we are entirely aware of how we are expected to behave.

By Jane Bonacenc

The importance of societal standards cannot be overstated. These standards guide our behavior and help to maintain order in society.

In the past, societal standards were often based on tradition and customs. However, in recent years, these standards have become more flexible, and they have been shaped by new cultural influences.

As citizens, we are expected to follow these standards and be aware of how we are expected to behave. We are responsible for upholding them and ensuring that they are respected by others.

The standards that we follow today are a reflection of our society, and they are constantly evolving. It is important for us to stay informed and to be aware of how we are expected to behave in different situations.

The new project office at Preston CVRC will be located at 123 Main Street. It will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. The project office will be staffed by qualified professionals who are dedicated to helping jobless people find work.

The new office will also provide additional resources for clients, such as job training and counseling. It will be a valuable addition to the organization's efforts to help jobless people.

PM criticised on housing

Housing workers have called on the Federal Budget and Prime Minister Tony Abbott to stop the 'diabolic disregard for families in need'.

Speaking at a forum open to the public, about 100 workers argued for better housing support for single parents, those with disabilities, and asylum seekers.

"Federal Government is considering to change the law to close the gap between the housing and pension system," a source at the forum said.

It is important to note that the Federal Budget has been heavily criticized by many, as it is seen as neglecting the needs of families in need.

Many goals to aim at in disabled sport, says Bruno

Basketball is proving all too easily accessible to the disabled, but what other sport can serve a purpose.

Not a day passes that we do not hear about new innovations and techniques that make basketball more accessible for the disabled. However, it is not the only sport that can serve a purpose.

For the disabled, the challenge of participating in sports is immense. They have to adapt to their physical limitations and find ways to overcome them.

Bruno, a well-known figure in the world of disabled sports, says that basketball is only one of the many sports that can serve a purpose.

"Basketball is an excellent sport for the disabled," Bruno says. "It is a sport that is accessible to those with a variety of disabilities. However, there are other sports that can serve a purpose as well."

Police blitz on footpath cyclists

If you own a pushbike you had best not ride it on the footpaths in Preston. Young people caught cycling could be prosecuted without warning.

That's the warning from Chief Inspector Thring. He wanted to make it clear that his men would be on the look-out for those who broke the law.

"Police are officers of the law and it is not only during the summer season that problems occur. We are likely to be on the lookout all year round.

"As a result, there will be no more tolerance and if problems occur there will be no warning."

The warning came from Chief Inspector Thring during his visit to Preston.

The Merrij Yarra Municipal Protection Committee has again expressed its determination to fight the BBC's proposed $300 fine along the Merrij and Yarra Valleys, following a request from the MVMPC that the BBC reconsider its decision. The MVMPC has reaffirmed its opposition to the proposed power line. It said it was convinced that the project was in the best interests of the community.

The BBC spokesperson said that they were committed to ensuring the safety and efficiency of the electricity supply. "We are always willing to listen to the concerns of the community and will work to address them," he said. The BBC spokesperson went on to say that they were looking to consult further with the community and would provide updates in due course.

"It is important that we continue to support the community and ensure that their concerns are heard," said the BBC spokesperson. He added that they were committed to working with the community to find a solution that would meet everyone's needs and interests.

"We are committed to ensuring that the community is heard and that their concerns are addressed," said the BBC spokesperson. He went on to say that they were looking to consult further with the community and would provide updates in due course.

Young potter finds her niche

Sitting on an upturned log with only the comfort of a cushion, Evie Willamson, of Reservoir (age 13), sleeps at 9.30am to guard a wood-fired kiln with the spit!! Timber stacked neatly all around her.

"It's so hard to get up," laughs Evie, "but when starting up the kiln, I have to stay awake for 20 hours..." Evie is a young potter, who entered the NationalTwig Prize in 1984. Since then, she has entered the competition 4 times and has won the award each time. "I started potting when I was about 9 years old," she says. "I got really interested in pottery when I saw a potter at work."

"At first, I was just watching her, but then she gave me some clay and I started to make pots. I wanted to make my own pottery, so I started to learn how to make pots."

Evie is one of the youngest people to enter the competition, and she is also the only one who has won the award 4 times in a row. "I love pottery," she says. "It's a way of life for me."

Evie is now planning to enter the competition again in 1986, and she is already working on her new pots. "I'm looking forward to entering the competition again," she says. "I want to win again."

Preston heads for its 2nd flag in row

Preston's quest for back-to-back premierships came to an end last Sunday when the Bulldogs accounted for Geelong West by 25 points in the semi-finals at Flinders Oval, St. Kilda.

In a pressure-packed affair, Preston held the advantage by a goal in the opening term of the match, but eventually took a 51-point lead at half-time of 42 points.

The match went on to be played with Geelong West in the lead, with the Bulldogs outclassing their opponents in the second half to win by 25 points. The win takes Preston to the grand final for the second time in a row.

Viets CAN fit in, given the chance

The Vietnamese people have been on the run, suffering persecution and dislocation for at least 30 years. In 1974 they fled by the thousand from the north to the south before a wave of the Chi Minh-inspired Vietnamese soldiers and civilians. In this group there was a strong element of the Vietnamese people who had been involved in the Vietnam War. Many of these people were forced to leave their homes and become refugees. After this, they were forced to move to other countries, where they were able to find work and build new lives. In some cases, they were also able to reunite with family members who had also been forced to leave their homes. In this way, the Vietnamese people have been able to find a new home and build a new life in the countries where they have settled.
Rows with neighbors may go to a centre

The City of Preston may know by the end of October whether it is to get a Neighborhood Dispute Resolution Centre.

A series of public meetings have been held in various parts of Melbourne to gauge public interest and test their availability for setting up such centres.

Mr David Brown, a member of the Legal Aid Council, will prepare a report on the outcome and discussion points brought up at the meetings.

If a centre goes ahead, it will be a "model" for others, Mr Brown said.

Other nearby centres are already in operation in the Melbourne area.

The North-East Region's Dispute Resolution Centre, established in February, has already dealt with 574 disputes.

Mr Brown will also conduct a survey of potential volunteers, including lawyers and former or current legal practitioners.

Three fourths of the disputes had involved civil disputes, the survey showed.

The City of Preston, which had already received 128 applications from a total of 213 people interested, was the first centre to be set up in Victoria.

To establish a centre, Mr Brown said, the City of Preston would have to have at least 150 people interested and less than 50 per cent of them in the "legal" profession.

Condition for public meetings will be to cover at least 2,500 square metres of land.

Groom to set up own business

Fred Brown, a junior lawyer, said he wanted to set up a consultation firm specializing in local government and urban affairs.

He would work on a part-time basis for the City of Preston.

He would continue working for a solicitor while a partner in the firm.

He said the firm would be open to all Prestonians who wanted to set up a business.

He said he had been approached by a solicitor to work for him.

The firm would have a limited number of partners, he said, and the City of Preston would be the first to set up such a firm.

The firm would be open to all Prestonians who wanted to set up a business.

He said he had been approached by a solicitor to work for him.

The City of Preston, he said, was the first to set up such a firm.

A solicitor would be available to all Prestonians who wanted to set up a business.

Little support for a 'free' service

Sir — I must take exception to your newspaper article (PTT 6/9/84) on the subject of the recent meeting to establish a 'free' community health centre in Preston.

Support for such a scheme was put forward by about 120 people. The proposal, however, was rejected by Preston and District Health Authority and a Preston City Council leader.

The meeting was well attended by about 120 people and included representatives from the Royal Preston Hospital, local health authorities, the Preston City Council and the Preston Citizen's Advice Bureau. However, the majority of those present were in favour of the proposal.

An elderly gentleman who had travelled from Southport added: "This is a genuine sincere group of people who care about the health of our community."

I must emphasise that it is not true to say that the meeting was in favour of the scheme. The decision was made by those present and the majority were in opposition.

Yours faithfully,

[Name]

Gowerville has best garden

Gowerville Primary School has just made an award for the most improved garden in the area. The garden was created by the Gowerville Primary School Garden Club with help from the local community.

The award ceremony took place during a special assembly, where students and staff were presented with certificates and prizes. The garden has already attracted a variety of wildlife, including birds and butterflies.

The Garden Club's president, Sarah Brown, said: "We are very proud of our garden and hope that it will continue to be enjoyed by everyone in the community for many years to come.

Courses to help job seekers

Bundanoon and Wottonia Employment Directory (BWEED) Community Youth Support Scheme (CYSS) is restructuring its program to assist unemployed youth.

The new program will focus on providing career development, training, and employment opportunities for youth aged 15-25. The program has been designed to help young people gain skills and experience in the areas of business, technology, and creative industries.

The scheme has received funding from the local council and private donors. The aim is to provide young people with the skills and knowledge they need to enter the workforce.

Mr. John, a local entrepreneur, spoke to the students at the launch event. He said: "I was once in a similar situation to you and I want to help young people get started in the world of work."

Larundel gets facelift

Larundel Hospital in Bundanoon has undergone a major renovation. The hospital was originally built in 1950 and served the local community well.

However, over the years, the hospital has become outdated and it was decided to undertake a major refurbishment. The project cost $3 million and was completed in August.

Among the improvements include new patient rooms, state-of-the-art medical equipment, and improved facilities for patients and staff.

Mrs. Smith, a resident of Bundanoon, said: "I am delighted to see the improvements made to Larundel Hospital. It is an important part of our community and it is great to see it being modernised.

Expert dispels myths about nurses

Nurses have long been portrayed in the media as weak, dim-witted, or even unattractive. These stereotypes must be dispelled, says nurse Brume Burleigh. In fact, a recent survey of 500 nurses revealed that 87% consider themselves to be shapely and attractive. Ms. Burleigh lists the following points for consideration:

- _1._ Nurses are not just doctors' aids. They are in charge of patient care and are responsible for their well-being.
- _2._ Nurses are not just busy. They are experts at multitasking and are able to manage multiple tasks simultaneously.
- _3._ Nurses are not just young. The average age of a nurse is 35 years old, and the age range is 20-60 years old.

"Many people are surprised to learn that nurses are not just young and attractive," says Ms. Burleigh. "But they are indeed beautiful and shapely, and they are just as capable of handling themselves as any other woman."

Disabled urge scrapping of beauty contests

Disabled people from Preston, Colne, Blackburn, and Burnley have called for an end to beauty contests. In an interview with the Preston Express, one disability rights activist said, "The beauty contests do not represent our community. They have no relevance to us." The activist added, "Our lives are about more than just looks, and we do not want to be judged by the way we look."

Another activist from Blackburn said, "The beauty contests are a form of ableism. They are designed to exclude us, and we do not want to be part of them."

A beauty contest organizer from Colne responded, "The beauty contests are about beauty, and we do not want to change them."

Selling a child

If you found your three-year-old child had passed into another person's custody, what would you do? You might try to save your child by seizing them back, but this is not an option, says psychologist Dr. John Smith. "It is important to understand the legal implications and what you can and cannot do," says Dr. Smith. "The legal system is designed to protect the rights of all children, and this includes the rights of the biological parents.

Upppy's Bistro has fine food, low prices

Center lunch prices have risen steadily over the past few years, and there are those who believe that you can't get a decent meal for less than $5.

But if you want to try something new, Upppy's Bistro in Bronte is a great place to start. The under-glass food display at the Bistro is the perfect spot to choose your meal.

If you come off the beaten track, you'll find a lot of other great options.

We started with the special for the day, a pasta dish that included tomatoes, basil and mozzarella. It was perfectly seasoned and cooked to perfection. The pasta was al dente and the sauce was rich and flavorful.

Next, we ordered the lasagna. It was a generous portion, and it was packed with flavor. The layers of noodles, meat and cheese were all well balanced.

For dessert, we shared a piece of the baked apple. It was perfectly cooked to a soft, caramelized texture. It was a great way to end our meal.

The service at Upppy's Bistro was attentive and friendly. The staff was knowledgeable about the menu and they were happy to answer any questions we had.

All in all, Upppy's Bistro is a great place to visit. The food is delicious, the prices are fair, and the atmosphere is welcoming. We would definitely recommend it to anyone looking for a great meal at an affordable price.

NEW CARS ... the Murcutt view

Out go the Falcon XEs — and it pays to 'shop around'

by Jim Murcutt

If you've been keeping an eye on the used-car market, you'll have noticed that the Falcon XE is being replaced by the XG. The local production run of the XE will be wound up around this month, and a small number is still available locally, but not expected to last long. The price of the Falcon XG will start from $6,945, which is a good deal above the XE's starting price of $4,995.

The price isn't quite the only change on the horizon. The XE is being replaced by a car that has some obvious improvements. The Falcon XG is a better car in many ways. It has a more powerful engine, it has a more comfortable ride, and it has a more advanced suspension system. It also has a more stylish exterior, with a more aerodynamic design.

Of course, it's not all good news. The XG is a larger car, and this means it's more expensive to run. The XG has a bigger engine, which means it will use more fuel. It also has a bigger body, which means it will be more expensive to maintain.

Despite these changes, the XG is still a good car. It has some obvious improvements over the XE, and it's still a good value for money. If you're looking for a used Falcon, the XE is still available, and it's a good option. But if you're looking for a new car, the XG is a good choice. It has some obvious improvements over the XE, and it's still a good value for money.

Congratulations to Bullsants

Preston stamped itself as a consistent premiership-winning club on Sunday, when it easily defeated Frankston in the VFA first division grand final at the Junction Oval.

The margin would have been much greater but for the Bullsants' woeful kicking which kept Frankston in the game in the first quarter.

The final score was Preston 19-21 (135) to Frankston's 12-9 (81).

A lightning start by Frankston looked like stalling Ray Shaw's last desperate attempt to play in a premiership side. Despite a four goal deficit, the Bullsants steadied, levelled, and then won in convincing fashion.

The win gave Preston back-to-back premiership, emulating the feat of 1968-69. But the win was all the more impressive because the team had lost 11 of its players from the 1983 side a drain that would cripple any club — except Preston.

Security was tight at the funeral of murdered Preston Council worker, Lindsay Andrew Simpson, at the Holy Name Catholic Church, in Reservoir on Friday.

Uniformed police from Preston and homeland detectives in charge of the case were present as grieving relatives and friends paid their last respects.

Mr Simpson, 32, was shot once in the back of the head in an execution-style killing as police have linked to a three-state drug ring.

By Rooyin Cash and Allen Jones

The ring is believed responsible for at least one other murder and the shooting of a police detective.

Police believe the murdered man was the victim of mistaken identity. Mr Simpson spoke to his killer before being shot and his last words are believed to be "I'm a police officer not..."

The shooting happened outside the house of a relative of Mr Simpson in Cheverton Rd, Lower Plenty, last Tuesday night.

Residents said Mr Simpson was made to kneel in the driveway of the house before being shot in the back of the head.

The killing was witnessed from the family car by Mr Simpson's wife, Louise, their eight-month-old daughter, Natasha, and in the car at the time.

Police believe a hit man was waiting for another person who was a criminal record but mistakenly shot Mr Simpson. Relatives of the family now fear for their own lives and some are believed to have gone into hiding. Police have not discounted that a relative was the intended victim.

Det Sen Constables Paul Pettingale and Greg Heywood, of Preston CIB, were called to the scene about 8pm before detectives from Hummel took charge of the case.

Mr Simpson, of Severn St, Essendon, was employed as a driver for the engineers department of Preston Council.

Jenny: non-violent and with peace, love in her heart

Jenny, 24, of Preston, is a practicing Christian who believes in non-violence. Jenny is advocating peace and non-violence in her everyday life. She is a member of the Preston Christian Fellowship and is actively involved in community service projects.

Thank you for your story on peace and non-violence. It is an important message that needs to be heard. I would like to share a personal story that illustrates this message.

There was a time when I was involved in a conflict with someone. We were both frustrated and angry, and our communication was not working. I decided to take a different approach. Instead of reacting with anger, I chose to listen to their perspective and express my own thoughts in a calm and peaceful manner.

As a result, we were able to find a solution that satisfied both of our needs. It was a small victory, but it taught me the power of non-violence and peaceful communication. I have continued to practice these principles in my life, and they have helped me to maintain a sense of peace and well-being.

I hope that my story encourages others to adopt non-violent strategies in their own lives. We all have the power to make a positive difference in the world.

Hospital report looks at year's activities

Preston and Northern Counties Hospital treated 114,135 patients in the past 12 months.

The figures were released at the hospital's annual general meeting, held last night at the Atlantic Hotel, Preston.

The meeting was attended by staff, patients and members of the public. The hospital's annual report was also presented to the meeting.

The report stated that the hospital had experienced a number of challenges in the past year, including a rise in the number of patients treated.

The hospital's chief executive, Dr. John Smith, said: "We are pleased with the overall performance of the hospital last year. However, we are aware of the challenges we face in the coming year, particularly with regard to staffing levels and the need to improve our facilities."

Jeff built new life from wood

New York born Jeff Segerman has found a new home in Kalgoorlie, the past four years. It’s almost as if he has found a new life of his own. Just like the gold diggers of the 1890s, he has also found his fortune. His story is one of determination and perseverance.

Jeff, a carpenter by trade, moved to Kalgoorlie to pursue a new career. He opened his own business, Segerman’s Carpentry, offering all types of carpentry services.

Jeff’s entry into the carpentry trade was not without its challenges. He had to start from scratch, learning the trade and building his reputation. But with hard work and determination, he eventually found success.

Jeff’s business grew steadily, and he became known for his excellent workmanship. He received a lot of referrals and his business started to grow. His reputation for quality work spread, and he was able to attract more customers.

Jeff’s success in Kalgoorlie is a testament to his hard work and determination. He has built a new life for himself in this new city, and his business is a direct result of his efforts.

Jeff and his wife, Sarah, are now settled in their new home, which they bought with the profits from his business. They are happy and content in their new life in Kalgoorlie.

Jeff’s story is an inspiration to others who are looking for a new start. It shows that with hard work and determination, it is possible to build a new life for yourself.

Preston make it two in a row

Ray Shaw realised a life-long ambition on Saturday when he led Preston to a 2-0 victory over Frankston in the VFA first division grand final on Sunday.

It was Preston's second senior premiership grand final win. The club had never won the grand final before, being runners-up in the 1975 and 1977 finals.

Preston weren't in form this year. The team had been average in the regular season, never reaching the top four in the league. However, they still managed to reach the grand final with a 1-0 victory over Wodonga in the preliminary final.

The season opened with a 3-2 victory over Wodonga, followed by a 1-0 win over the unbeaten team. Preston then went on to win their next three games in a row, before losing to the unbeaten team in their last game of the season. They then faced Wodonga in the preliminary final, winning 1-0.

The grand final was played in front of a large crowd. Preston started strongly, with Shaw scoring the first goal of the game within the first 20 minutes. Frankston then equalised, but Preston went on to score two goals in the second half, winning the game 2-0.

Ray Shaw realised a life-long ambition on Saturday when he led Preston to a 2-0 victory over Frankston in the VFA first division grand final on Sunday.

It was Preston's second senior premiership grand final win. The club had never won the grand final before, being runners-up in the 1975 and 1977 finals.

Preston weren't in form this year. The team had been average in the regular season, never reaching the top four in the league. However, they still managed to reach the grand final with a 1-0 victory over Wodonga in the preliminary final.

The season opened with a 3-2 victory over Wodonga, followed by a 1-0 win over the unbeaten team. Preston then went on to win their next three games in a row, before losing to the unbeaten team in their last game of the season. They then faced Wodonga in the preliminary final, winning 1-0.

The grand final was played in front of a large crowd. Preston started strongly, with Shaw scoring the first goal of the game within the first 20 minutes. Frankston then equalised, but Preston went on to score two goals in the second half, winning the game 2-0.

The Preston Cricket Club, after a successful season to 1984, will field one of the four senior teams in the final. The club has sponsored a number of successful junior teams in the past, and has produced a number of players who have gone on to play for the senior sides.

The club has recently undergone a name change to Preston Harriers. The change is in recognition of the club's long history and its association with the Harriers, the local athletics club.

The club's most successful player is John Daley, who has been a member of the club for over 30 years. Daley has been a key player in the club's success and has been a member of the club's senior team for many years.

The club's other successful players include Tony Jones, who has been a member of the club for over 20 years, and Bill Smith, who has been a member of the club for over 15 years.

The club's junior team is also successful, and has produced a number of players who have gone on to play for the senior sides.

The club's success is due to the hard work and dedication of its members, and the support of its sponsors. The club is grateful for the support of its sponsors, and looks forward to continuing its success in the future.
